The Xth National Congress of Microscopic Morphology

TIMISOARA, ROMANIA, May, 24-26, 2012

First announcement

WELCOME

Dear Colleagues,

It is a great pleasure for us to welcome you to Timisoara, to the Xth National Congress of Microscopic Morphology, on behalf of the "Victor Babes" University of Medicine and Pharmacy and Romanian Society of Morphology. The microscopy of normal and pathological tissues remains a challenge in the field of both diagnosis and research. Many original findings are published yearly about new methods, validation of older ones, about new observation based mainly on molecular pathology and many others. Based on these findings, new classifications of benign and malignant human lesions did not wait to occur. However, as in other fields of medical research, successful experimental data were not supported by clinico-pathological and therapeutic findings in humans. For almost two decades, the molecular pathology was restricted to the pathological diagnosis and with a lesser extent, to the prognosis of different pathological conditions. Nowadays, these methods are used to define and characterize new molecular targets, particularly in the therapy of human cancers. A lot of questions still wait an answer to clarify some unsolved problems. Your original contribution could answer some of these questions. We wish you a very fruitful meeting and a pleasant stay in Timisoara.

Marius Raica Laurentiu Mogoanta
President of the Congress Executive President of RSM

TOPICS

Any original research in the field of microscopy can be a topic. It's up to you!
